335. CHARLES[7] WATSON (Daniel Hayes[6], Dudley[5], Thomas[4], Dudley[3], David[2], Jonathan[1]), son of Daniel Hayes [186] and Susan (Ham) Watson, was born during June 1827 (calc.) in Dover, New Hampshire. He died on 19 February 1889 in Somersworth, New Hampshire, of consumption, aged 61 years and 8 days, a merchant, widowed.[3560]

He was 23, a carpenter, of Dover, when he married in Lawrence, Massachusetts, on 13 March 1851, CAROLINE T.[8] WING (Thomas[7], William[6], Simeon[5], Ebenezer[4], Nathaniel[3], Stephen[2], John[1]), 22, of Fayette, Maine.[3561] She was born on 7 May 1828 in Fayette, Maine,[3562] daughter of Thomas and Abigail P. (Wing) Wing, and died on 20 July 1879 in Great Falls (Somersworth), New Hampshire, of "complications of disease," aged 51 years, 2 months, and 13 days.[3563]

Charles Watson was a carpenter and merchant. His family lived in Dover at the time of his birth in 1827 until 1848, when he moved to Somersworth, living there for the rest of his life, to 1889.

Charles was listed among the students attending the Tolend School in Dover, between 1838 and 1849.[3564] In 1867 and 1869 he was employed as a carpenter by the Great Falls Manufacturing Company and he lived on Mt. Vernon Street in Great Falls village (Somersworth).[3565] In 1871 he was in the furniture business, "Sanborn and Watson," at 27 Market Square; by 1874 he had become a grocer on Main Street, still living on Mt. Vernon, and the grocery had moved to High Street in 1876.[3566] He and his wife were listed among the members of the High Street Baptist Church in 1879, resident on Mt. Vernon Street.[3567]

356. DAVID[7] WATSON (David[6–5], Jonathan[4–3], David[2], Jonathan[1]), son of David [220] and Susan Pendexter (Day) Watson, was born 6 November 1836 in Limerick, Maine.[3735] He died 8 July 1891 in Conway, New Hampshire, of heart failure, aged 54 years, 7 months, and 2 days, a physician.[3736]

He married, first, in Somersworth, New Hampshire, on 28 March 1859, by E. M. Webber, J.P., ANNIE LUVIA EATON, whose parentage has not been learned; he was a physician, of Limerick, she was of Wells, Maine.[3737] Annie was born about 1839 and died about 1872 in New York, New York.

David married, second, about 1873, ANGIE M.[3] LORD (Richard S.[2], Joseph[1]), who was born 8 June 1846 (calc.) in Conway, New Hampshire, daughter of Richard S. and Mary G. (Maxwell) Lord. After David's death, she married, second, 9 April 1894 in Hudson, New Hampshire, JOHN A. FONTAIN; she was 35, of Conway, and he was 26, a mechanic.[3738] She died on 22 August 1902 in Conway, of pernicious anemia, aged 56 years, 2 months, and 10 days, called the widow of David Watson, M.D.[3739]

David Watson, later a physician, lived in Limerick from his birth in 1836 until 1860, when he moved to Parsonsfield, where he was resident until 1865. He lived in Conway from 1865 to 1868, in New York City 1868 to 1873, in Bryant Pond, Maine, 1873 to 1875, and again in Conway from 1875 to his death in 1891.

David studied medicine with Doctor William Swasey of Limerick and then attended lectures at Bowdoin College in 1857. He was a demonstrator of anatomy for one term at Dartmouth College and then attended fourth–term lectures at the New York University Medical School, graduating in 1860. He practiced for two years in Parsonsfield, before joining the U. S. Navy in the spring of 1863, resigning his commission at the end of the Civil War, in 1865. David was then in his medical practice three years at Conway, five in New York City, two at Bryant Pond, and finally sixteen back in Conway to the end of his life.[3740] before moving to Parowan. Except for 1891–1893 in Panaca, Nevada, he resided with his two families in and around Parowan for the rest of his life, 1867 to 1896.

Lorenzo Dow Watson served twice during the Civil War, enlisting first at age 16 during the winter of 1861–1862; he was shipped off to Tennessee and was in the battle of Shiloh in April 1862. By that summer his father managed to get his under–age son released from the army and returned home.[3767] After a year working on his father's farm, he returned to school, only to reenlist 9 December 1863 from Limerick, this time in Company L, 2nd Maine Cavalry.[3768] He was mustered in 24 December 1863 and spent the next year and a half with this unit, most of the time in Florida, where sanitation and food were poor; Lorenzo contracted malaria and suffered from scurvy, two ailments that plagued him for the rest of his life, shortening its span.[3769] He was discharged for disability on 13 June 1865 from the army hospital at Barrancas, Florida, and received an invalid pension from that time; after his death, his first wife continued to receive a widow's pension.[3770]

He returned to Maine at war's end, but early in 1866 he and some friends booked passage around Cape Horn to San Francisco to work in the mines. He quit after one week and began to learn the leather and saddle trade, at which he eventually became quite skilled. The next spring, 1867, he and his friends decided to head back to Maine, this time over land. They had earned enough for horses and supplies to take them as far as the Mormon settlements in southern Utah, where they planned to work a while, to earn for the next leg. They crossed the Mojave Desert and the Colorado River, arriving in Parowan, Utah, without casualty. Lorenzo began work as a schoolteacher and settled into the community, soon becoming converted to Mormonism. He was to spend the rest of his life in this area.[3771]

He was married first in 1871 to a young woman whose parents, early Mormon converts, had been married in Nauvoo, Illinois, in 1845, and trekked across the plains to Salt Lake City in the Willard Richards company in 1848. Melissa, known as "Lissie," was born in a wagon going across the pass to San Bernadino, California, her parents en route to establish the Mormon colony there. By 1857 they had returned to Utah, settling in Parowan.[3772]

With Lissie's (at first reluctant) approval, Lorenzo Dow Watson took a second wife in 1879. Emily had come to America from England in 1868 with her father, another Mormon convert. They rode in railroad cattle cars from New York to Laramie, Wyoming, transferring there to prairie schooners to Salt Lake City. The family soon moved to their permanent settlement, in Kanosh, Millard County, Utah.[3773]

Over the years Lorenzo proved very industrious, turning his hand to many ventures, in addition to his skills as a saddle and harness maker. He harvested and delivered salt to ore mines a hundred miles away in Nevada; he and a partner shipped in equipment and set up a successful sawmill in one of the canyons in the mountains; he ran a lumber yard during a silver rush in southern Utah; he bred and raised horses; and, late in his life, again a schoolteacher, he passed the bar and became a lawyer.[3774]

His two families lived in separate houses on adjoining one–acre lots in Parowan, but older girls from one would live in the other to help with ever more young – a total of twenty–one children. His religious beliefs caused most of his Maine family to break all dealings with him, despite his regular letters home; only his younger brother, James M. K. P. Watson, maintained life–long contact. His practice of polygamy also caused years of trouble for him and the family; during the 1880s he was often on the run from U.S. marshals with warrants for his arrest, and his wives were regularly harassed. He was twice convicted of "unlawful cohabitation," in 1886 and 1888, and each time served six months in the Territorial Penitentiary at Salt Lake City.[3775] It was after the second sentence that he moved with Emily and her children to Panaca, Nevada, for two years to avoid further trouble. By the mid–1890s most of the pressure had been relieved, and they returned to Parowan, where he lived his last few years.

After Lorenzo Dow's death in 1896, Melissa continued to live in Parowan, until shortly after the 1900 census was taken, when she moved her family to St. George; she resided there for the rest of her life, to 1930. Emily and her family also continued to live in Parowan until 1907, when she moved them to Cedar City to provide better schooling; she lived there for the rest of her life, to 1933. She was active in her church and community, including her service as librarian in the Cedar City Carnegie Library for many years from 1911.[3776]

He was 22, a shoemaker, of Northwood, when he married in Deerfield, New Hampshire, on 27 November 1862, by Rev. J. P. Stinchfield, MALVINA E. GILES, aged 18, of Northwood.[3954] She was born on 31 August 1844 (calc.) in Deerfield, daughter of Paul Silas and Eliza (Ladd) Giles. She died 27 September 1920 in Northwood, of acute endocarditis and chronic bronchitis, aged 76 years and 27 days, married, having lived there 67 years from Deerfield.[3955]

William Dyer Watson was a farmer, shoemaker, and salesman. He resided in Northwood for his entire life, from 1840 to 1922. After his parents died, William in 1870 and Mariah Jane in 1882, "their son, William, not caring for the life of a farmer, sold the Watson farm on the Turnpike. The second William and his family lived on Maple Street in the Narrows."[3956]

William D. Watson was an active citizen in Northwood: he served as selectman 1877–1878, 1881–1884, and 1899–1901; and, he was on the school board 1903–1904 and 1906–1907.[3957] He was a director of the Northwood Mutual Fire Insurance Company, from 1906 to his death in 1922, and was the president of the board, 1910–1922.[3958] William also served as trustee of the Coe–Brown Northwood Academy, 1886–1922, and was its secretary 1888–1891 and treasurer 1903–1920.[3959]

He was 30, a druggist, of Haverhill, when he married in Merrimac, Massachusetts, on 31 December 1885, PHILENA W. SARGENT, aged 24, of Merrimac.[3983] She was born 6 November 1861 (calc.) in Amesbury, Massachusetts, daughter of Benjamin F. and Julia W. (Williams) Sargent. She died 11 January 1943 in Haverhill, of arteriosclerosis, aged 81 years, 2 months, and 5 days, a widow, and was buried in the Linwood Cemetery with her husband.[3984]

John Frank Ernest Watson resided in Northwood from his birth in 1855 until 1870, and for some time thereafter. By 1875 he had removed to Haverhill, Massachusetts, living there for the rest of his life, to 1930. He was listed as a druggist at marriage and at the birth of both of his children, 1885–1889. His death certificate stated that he was still residing at 32 Park Street, that he had lived in Haverhill 55 years, and that he was engaged in real estate for 30 years to [retirement] October 1930. Philena's death record showed that she was living at the same 32 Park Street address in 1943 and had been in Haverhill 57 years. His obituary in the Haverhill Gazette added that he had served the city as alderman and councilman, was a Republican, several times a delegate to state conventions, and a 32nd degree Mason. He was schooled at Coe Academy in Northwood and then established a drugstore in Haverhill, under the name of Pollard and Watson; he ran this business until 1891, when he came down with diphtheria. After two years of being bedridden, he started a leather business, operating a counter factory until 1900. He then entered real estate, auctioneering, and insurance, which was his business until two weeks before his death. He was considered an expert in valuations of factories and equipment and was a noted auctioneer throughout New England. Philena's obituary recounted that she had died at her daughter's home, 9 St. James Avenue, and also named their children and grandchildren.[3985]

He enlisted first at age 18 on 8 September 1862 in Company D, 15th New Hampshire Infantry, he born in, resident of, and credited to Pittsfield; he was mustered in as a private on 8 October 1862. He was appointed musician during this service, and was mustered out on 13 August 1863. He enlisted again at age 20 on 31 August 1864, for one year, in Company E, 1st New Hampshire Heavy Artillery, credited to Northwood. He was mustered in as a private on 5 September 1864 and appointed first lieutenant on 8 September 1864. He was mustered out on 15 June 1865. Records show him to be resident in Cameron, Missouri, in 1895.[4007]

On 4 March 1864 the Town of Northwood owed him $20 on a note dated 27 October 1862.[4008] In 1876 he was already in Cameron, Missouri, engaged in the restaurant business, when his sister's son, Frank Watson Fogg, at age 16, left Northwood, to join his uncle.[4009] Politically he was a Republican, and he was a member of the Knights Templar.[4010]

394. CLARA A.[7] WATSON (Daniel[6–5], William[4], Jonathan[3], David[2], Jonathan[1]), daughter of Daniel [252] and Margaret A. (Tilton) Watson, was born 15 February 1850 in Pittsfield, New Hampshire.[4014] She died there on 9 October 1880, of throat cancer, aged 30 years.[4015] She resided in Pittsfield her entire life, from 1850 to 1880.

She married in Pittsfield, during July 1873,[4016] JOHN D.[3] STEVENS (Mark H.[2], Durrel[1]), who was born during June 1851 (calc.) in New Durham, New Hampshire, son of Mark H. and Eleanor McDuffee (Davis) Stevens. The date and place of his death have not been learned.

After Clara's death, John married, second, in 1883 (calc.), NELLIE BESSIE[8] WATSON (Plummer David[7], Solomon[6], Daniel[5], William[4], Jonathan[3], David[2], Jonathan[1]), who was born 23 April 1865 in Lynn, Massachusetts,[4017] daughter of Clara's first cousin Plummer David [393] and Elizabeth M. (Pillsbury) Watson. The date and place of her death have not been learned.

Nellie resided in Lynn at least until she was five years old. By 1876 she had removed to Cameron, Missouri, with her father, and shortly before his remarriage, John Stevens moved there as well. He, Nellie, and their family lived there at least to 1900.

395. ELLEN ANN[7] WATSON (Daniel[6–5], William[4], Jonathan[3], David[2], Jonathan[1]), daughter of Daniel [252] and Margaret A. (Tilton) Watson, was born 20 June 1857 in Pittsfield, New Hampshire.[4020] She died there on 6 March 1923, of pneumonia, aged 65 years, 8 months, and 16 days, a widow.[4021] She resided in Pittsfield her entire life, from 1857 to 1923.

She married in Pittsfield, on 4 April 1879,[4022] ERSKINE[7] DENISON (Joseph[6–5], George[4], Robert[3], John[2], George[1]), who was born 26 March 1847 in Northfield, Vermont,[4023] son of Joseph and Adeline (Adams) Denison. He died 21 February 1922 in Pittsfield, aged 74 years, 10 months, and 26 days, a farmer.[4024]

Real Estate Transactions of Erskine Denison:

1895, March 30: Erskine Denison bought the homestead farm on Tilton Hill, Pittsfield, from Edgar L. Carr, administrator of the estate of [father–in–law] Daniel Watson 2nd, for $1,900 [Merrimack Deeds, 300:313].
1896, March 17: Erskine Denison bought 75a. next to the homestead farm on Tilton Hill, Pittsfield, from Ida A. Cram for $362.50 [Merrimack Deeds, 319:581].
1924, Dec. 17: the heirs of Erskine Denison (Guy E. and Harriet M. Denison, Marjorie Denison, Evelyn D. and Maurice Baker, and Roy E. and Lura B. Denison) sold the homestead farm of Daniel Watson 2nd and the 75a. next to it on Tilton Hill, Pittsfield, to Dow, Barton, and Pettingill for $1 [Merrimack Deeds, 319:581].

Her father's will, dated 4 February 1893 and proved 8 January 1895, provided $1 to Ellen A. Denison.[4025] In his will dated 29 October 1917 and proved 14 March 1922, Erskine Denison gave $100 each to his children, Guy E., Roy E., Marjorie M., and Evelyn A., and the rest of the estate to his wife Ellen A. administration of his mother's estate on 10 April 1923. The inventory taken 31 May 1923 included the homestead farm and pasture on Tilton Hill. The estate was settled on 6 November 1924 with payment of $880.77 to each of the four children.[4027]

After her father's death, the Denisons bought the family homestead, on Tilton Hill Road, from the estate. Erskine farmed the land to his death in 1922, but, in the 75 years since, the land has lain fallow, with only a few acres still mowed. The dwellings slowly deteriorated into the 1950s, when, as they were about to be demolished for old lumber, a priest, Father Hector LaMontagne, acquired the property as a family retreat. Its decline was halted, and in the 1990s, two young families have, in succession, undertaken major renovations. The old cape, built about 1777, and the two–story house adjoining, built about 1850, are again enjoying productive use [see pictures on page 306].

396. FLORENCE ABBIE[7] WATSON (Daniel[6–5], William[4], Jonathan[3], David[2], Jonathan[1]), daughter of Daniel [252] and Nancy Ann (Wheeler) (Emery) Watson, was born 6 May 1884 in Pittsfield, New Hampshire.[4032] She died 13 May 1966 in Exeter, New Hampshire, on a visit to her sister, Cora Emily Adams.[4033]

She was 26, a teacher, of Barnstead, New Hampshire, when she married there, on 28 September 1910, ERNEST HENRY[4] GOODWIN (Charles H.[3], Gilman[2], David[1]), aged 35, a merchant, of Gilmanton.[4034] He was born 15 April 1875 in Gilmanton, New Hampshire,[4035] son of Charles H. and Irene A. (Dorr) Goodwin. The date and place of his death have not been learned.

Florence lived in Pittsfield from her birth in 1884 until 1903, when her mother moved the family to Barnstead, where she lived until her marriage in 1910. She then moved to Gilmanton, at the "Iron Works," where she resided for the rest of her life, to 1966.

> Census Record
> 1900: Pittsfield, N.H.: Florence A. Watson with mother, aged 16, b. 5/1884, in school.

In his will dated 4 February 1893 and proved on 8 January 1895, her father left $200 to Florence A. Watson.[4036] Nancy A. Watson, her mother, was appointed guardian of Florence A. Watson, minor child of Daniel Watson 2nd of Pittsfield, on 26 February 1895.[4037]

After being a cook in a sawmill as a young man, Ernest took over the country store in Gilmanton Iron Works from his father and ran it for many years. As was the custom at the time, Florence had to leave her position as schoolteacher in Barnstead upon marriage. She later became postmistress at Gilmanton Iron Works. In later years she was known in the family as "Auntie F."[4038]

397. CORA EMILY[7] WATSON (Daniel[6–5], William[4], Jonathan[3], David[2], Jonathan[1]), daughter of Daniel [252] and Nancy Ann (Wheeler) (Emery) Watson, was born 9 April 1886 in Pittsfield, New Hampshire.[4041] She died 13 October 1971 in Exeter, New Hampshire,[4042] and was buried in the Floral Park Cemetery, Pittsfield, with her husband.[4043]

She married in Pittsfield, on 20 August 1907,[4044] SAMUEL TAYLOR[10] ADAMS (William Patterson[9], William Clark[8], William[7], Ezekiel Gilman[6], Joseph[5–4–3–2], Henry[1], John[A], Henry[B], John[C]), who was born there 17 February 1881,[4045] son of William Patterson and Emma Lizzie (Hartwell) Adams. He died 5 March 1960 in Exeter, of a heart attack,[4046] and was buried in the Floral Park Cemetery, Pittsfield.[4047]

Cora Emily lived in Pittsfield from her birth in 1886 until 1903, when her mother moved the family to Barnstead, where she lived until her marriage in 1907. She then moved to Durham, living there from 1907 to 1909. After a few months in Gilmanton in 1909 and 1910, she rejoined her husband in Portsmouth until 1912, when they moved to Exeter, living there for the rest of their lives, he to 1960, she to 1971.

In his will dated 4 February 1893 and proved 8 January 1895, her father provided $200 to Cora E. Watson.[4048] Nancy A. Watson, her mother, was appointed guardian of Cora E. Watson, minor child of Daniel Watson 2nd of Pittsfield, on 26 February 1895.[4049] Cora Emily had scarlet fever as a child, explaining the 1900 census entry showing that she did not attend school while her sisters did. She was quarantined with her mother on the second floor of the house. Meals were hoisted up in a pail through a window, and, after she recovered, all her clothes, bedding, etc., were burned. She was largely self–taught, reading all of her sister Florence's books.[4050]

After graduating from Pittsfield High School in 1898, Samuel T. Adams went to Exeter to work in the Exeter Manufacturing Company's textile mill for about three years, until entering the University of New Hampshire in the fall of 1901. He graduated in 1905 with a degree in mechanical engineering. In 1907, Samuel and Cora Emily were married and had a four–day honeymoon to Portsmouth and York Harbor, Maine, before returning to Durham, where he taught physics at the University for the school years 1907–08 and 1908–09. Their twin sons were soon born there in 1908. In 1909 they moved to Portsmouth, Sam having decided to work as an auto mechanic there, an occupation he pursued for the next 15 years. Late that year, Cora Emily returned to Gilmanton Iron Works with her sons to be with her mother while Sam became financially established. Her mother died in January 1910, and she returned to Portsmouth around mid–year, before the arrival of their third child in August. In 1912 they moved to Exeter, boarding on Court Street, as their fourth child was born; their last two children were also born there over the next five years. Sam joined the New Hampshire National Guard, serving from Exeter 1918–1919 and 1921–1922, but the unit was not called for active duty in or after World War I. In February 1924 Sam was retained as the mechanical engineer for the Spaulding and Frost Co.'s barrel stave factory in Fremont, New Hampshire; here he worked proudly to the day he died in 1960. Until after the end of World War II he went to Fremont every Monday morning, lodged in a rooming house there during the week, and returned to his family in Exeter Friday evening. They resided in rented apartments, in succession, at 26 Court Street, 8 Oak Street, 3 Auburn Street, 8 Center Street, and finally 57 Park Street, where Sam died of a heart attack. After his death, Cora Emily, and her daughter Florence Elizabeth, moved to Lincoln Street. In 1998, Florence lives at 336 Water Street.[4051]

He died 14 February 1896 in Laconia, New Hampshire, of paralysis, aged 54 years, 10 months, and 14 days, a carder.[4065]

He was 25, a spinner, of Laconia, when he married at Sanbornton Bridge (now Tilton), New Hampshire, on 16 June 1866, by Rev. William D. Cass, SARAH ELIZABETH[8] PHILBRICK (Moses Cheney[7], David[6], Benjamin[5], Nathan[4], James[3–2], Thomas[1]), aged 19, of Sanbornton.[4066] She was born there 28 June 1846,[4067] daughter of Moses Cheney and Sarah E. (Giles) Philbrick. She died 21 August 1906 in Laconia, of dropsy, aged 60 years, 1 month, and 23 days, a widow, residing at 9 Crescent Street, having lived 55 years in the city from East Tilton, and was buried in the Union Cemetery, East Tilton.[4068]

George resided with his family in Meredith from his birth in 1841 until 1850, and for some time thereafter. By 1860 they had moved to Gilford, where he lived to 1865. He then lived in Laconia for five years until 1870, in Sanbornton for nine years to 1879, and finally back in Laconia, where he lived from 1880 to his death in 1896.

In the Civil War, George W. Watson enlisted in Company H, 12th New Hampshire Infantry, at age 21 on 16 August 1862, a resident of and credited to Gilford. He was mustered in as a private on 9 September

GEORGE W. WATSON.

1862, and he was discharged at Concord, New Hampshire, on 31 May 1865.[4069] The regimental history printed a picture of George, and described him as 5' 10" tall, with blue eyes, black hair, and light complexion. "He was in all battles of the regiment, except Gettysburg. He was never seriously wounded but had a bullet pass through his equipment at Chancellorsville. He says, 'Charles Cate was hit in the side at Chancellorsville. I took his watch. He was crying for water and for some one to kill him'.... He was for many years a spinner and overseer in one of the mills at Laconia. He is spoken of as one of the best soldiers of the company and few saw more of actual warfare than he."[4070] By 1880 George was receiving an invalid pension for suffering from chills and fever.[4071]

That he worked all his life in textile mills is evident from all records. He was listed as a spinner in 1867 at his daughter's birth, in hosiery mills in the 1870 and 1880 censuses, as a laborer in 1883 at his daughter's birth, as an overseer in 1886 at his son's birth, and as a carder in 1896 in his death record. History of Sanbornton calls him an overseer in the carding and spinning room of the Gilford Hosiery Company.[4072]

APPENDIX A LIST OF RESIDENCES

This appendix lists the date(s) of residence by location for the Watsons, their spouses, the parents of their spouses, the children of Watson daughters, and those children's spouses. It does not include information on miscellaneous individuals mentioned in the text, such as non–family parties to real estate transactions or clergymen performing marriages. The plus symbol (+) indicates residence probably extended beyond the last year given; an asterick (*) indicates that the individual died at that time. The number in bold type indicates the primary family group in which the individual appears.

APPENDIX B
NAME INDEX BY FAMILY GROUP

This appendix lists names for the Watsons, their spouses, the parents of their spouses, the children of Watson daughters, and those children's spouses. It does not include information on miscellaneous individuals mentioned in the text, such as non–family parties to real estate transactions or clergymen performing marriages. The year noted in parentheses ( ) indicates year of birth for the individual; the number in bold type indicates the primary family group in which the individual appears.

About the Author

David Watson Kruger was born in Exeter, New Hampshire, and currently resides there with his wife, Jean L. (MacHardy) Kruger. He attended Phillips Exeter Academy and is a 1964 graduate of Dartmouth College. He was a captain in U.S. Army military intelligence from 1964 to 1969, and served with the First Cavalry Division in Vietnam in 1967. He joined the First National Bank of Boston, now BankBoston Corporation, in 1969 and retired in 1996. Mr. Kruger has had lifelong interests in history, geography, and socio-economics. Since he fell heir to an uncle's family-tree data thirty years ago he began to tie these interests to genealogy. For more than twenty years he has accumulated data on the Watsons of New England.
